

- I hope that you are keeping well and enjoying this lovely weather—when I am out with my husband walking Coco—we see many people exercising and I have met a few of you on Bookham Common—at a 2m distance, of course!
- Keep working on the adventure playground models, (maximum size 50 x 50cm). Don't forget the designs and consider working in a rainbow in some clever way! When school re-opens, you will be invited to bring them in. Lots of house points to be earned here!
- Home School Learning—I hope this is going well—we do appreciate that you are not teachers and the idea is that the child should be able to complete work set with guidance from you. If they cannot manage the work then do let us know via the year group email. Similarly if they are finishing the work quickly to a high standard regarding quality, quantity and accuracy, do use one of the very many website suggestions that have gone out to extend their learning. There is no expectation that you print off worksheets; children can work on paper or in a notebook. May I please remind you that your child needs to submit work weekly; one piece of writing and one piece of maths (this should be the maths homework if it's been set by the ELT teacher) via the dedicated year group email address that is monitored by a team of teachers. Staff will respond within 48 hours. I hope that you are enjoying the Loom videos; here is the link to one from me for all the children where I read a mischievous poem that I know they absolutely love. <https://www.loom.com/share/6aeed34d264344c8b505285ac742c6cd>
- There is a lot of wonderful cultural media free online at the moment so do take a look at just a few examples of what is available in the box below. A big thank you to Mrs Mumby for putting this together.
- Look at the two lovely pieces of art work that Chloe, Emily G, Emily T, Alice, Adelyn & Elodie created with Mrs Foran during the holiday—thanks for the idea Alba Coupe! You will see this art on permanent display in the Hall on your return.
- Don't forget that reading books, for both free readers and colour banded books can be changed daily in the Green Room at 1.15. Oxford Owl also have a fantastic selection of e-books for all primary aged children. Just click on this link <https://www.oxfordowl.co.uk/for-home/find-a-book/library-page/>

Cultural Capital

At this difficult time, it is good to have something that you can do or watch as a family. There is so much wonderful, cultural media that is now free online. Here is our first weekly roundup of a few of these. We hope you get the opportunity to enjoy some of them whilst you are safe at home.

This year's Schools' Triathlon was due to take place on 3rd May but has been postponed, and will potentially be held at Cranleigh and Charterhouse schools in September instead. We have 16 Raleigh teams from across KS2 registered for the event (64 children in total).

Given the delay, the organising charity Restless Development, has set up a "Tri This At Home" challenge which culminates in a virtual "triathlon" for the registered teams on 28th June. This may replace the September events if they can't go ahead. The Challenge runs between now and 28th June and consists of 3 events - running, hopping and star jumping. These are all designed to be easily done in gardens, and the aim is to see how many points each team can accumulate by doing these activities each day.

Over the last week I've been helping Restless Development produce a short video clip to promote the "Tri This At Home" Challenge. I wanted to share the video we've produced as the team featured is our Year 6 boys' team - TriTastic (George, Edward, William & Josh)! They will become one of the main "faces" of the Schools Triathlon over the coming months, helping to promote the virtual challenge, and encouraging children to take part. This is a fantastic opportunity to encourage our 16 Raleigh triathlon teams to remain active for a good cause, as they will continue to raise funds which will now be channeled into helping the developing countries Restless currently support, to get back on their feet post Covid-19.

The video was launched on social media channels on Tuesday evening, just click here to view. There are approx 4000 children registered for the May triathlon events so this will go out to all of them. This is a fantastic piece of PR for the Raleigh - the boys are all wearing their Raleigh t-shirts and hopefully will help generate enthusiasm for the Challenge across all the competing schools. Jim Sewell, Restless Development's lead organiser is massively appreciative of our help.
